British Council policy on the use of AI in personal statements

A key part of the Study USA application form is a personal statement which you are required to submit. The personal statement is made up of six questions.

The personal statement is exactly that; personal. It should describe your ambitions, skills and the experiences that make you suitable Study USA in your own words. A lot of students find that writing helps to confirm that they are applying for the right programme.

AI cannot capture your unique voice and will lack authenticity, depth, and individuality. The use of AI is easily identifiable and generates similar phrases, formatting and sentence structure. A bland AI-generated personal statement is not what Study USA is looking for!

Using artificial intelligence software to generate answers to Study USA's personal statement questions is strictly prohibited.

- Doing so is considered plagiarism and fraud.
- You must not use someone else's work or present content generated by AI tools like ChatGPT or similar tools as your own.
- Doing so violates Study USA's guidelines on plagiarism and fraud.
- Any application found to contain copied, AI-generated or fraudulent content will be disqualified.

You will be asked to confirm that you have not used artificial intelligence to generate any of your content in Section 5 of the online application form.
